Political affiliation determined by analysis of voting patterns in the Journal of the Assembly.

* While John Nevil had supported the Republicans consistently during his tenure as a representative from Washington County, his recorded votes as Allegheny County's only representative in 1789-1790 were supportive of the Constitutionalist viewpoints. In the new legislature, he would once again support the Federalist position.

 No votes were recorded for Joseph Heister. His allegiance has been assigned to the Constitutionlists on the basis of his voting patterns in previous sessions of the Assembly.
