* John Dickinson, George Gray, Thomas Potts, and Isaac Hughes absented themselves from the Assembly and were replaced through elections held on 14 February 1777 by John Bull and John Moore (sworn in on 18 February), William Coates (sworn in on 19 February), and Robert Lollar (no record found).

 Joseph Parker was supported by both the Republican and Constitutionalist partisans.

 Robert Morris and Samuel Morris Jr. resigned from the Assembly and were replaced through an election held on 21 February 1777 by William Jackson and William Hollingshead. Hollingshead was seated prior to 3 March. No record has been found of participation by Jackson.

* The entire Bedford County delegation withdrew from the Assembly and were not replaced.

@ Brunhouse describes Shubart (Counter-revolution, p.20) as a Republican in 1776. However, voting patterns in 1778-9 show him as a strong supporter of Constitutionalist positions.
