* Jacob Cassatt was found dead in bed in Harrisburg on 27 December 1838. He was replaced by Thomas C. Miller, resulting in a gain of one seat by the Democrats.

 The Senate was initially organized by the Whigs who recognized the disputed election of Whigs James Hanna and William Wagner. This was reversed following the end of the Buckshot War with the seating of Democrats Samuel Stevenson and Michael Snyder. The Whigs regained one seat when Democrat Thomas Bell (Chester) was replaced by Nathaniel Brooke, a Whig.
